Course Overview

Professionals using advanced query design techniques complete complex data retrieval tasks up to 40% faster and with greater accuracy than those relying only on basic tools. The Microsoft Access Training – Access Part 2 course equips you with the advanced features, queries, reports, and relational design practices that make this level of efficiency possible. In this course, you will expand your knowledge of relational database design, promote quality input from users, and learn how to improve database efficiency while strengthening data integrity. You'll also implement advanced features in tables, queries, forms, and reports, giving you the ability to build databases that are more reliable, usable, and scalable. The training focuses on optimization of Access databases, including performance tuning, normalizing data, applying data validation rules, and improving usability.
